Any personally identifiable information you elect to make publicly available on the Services, such as posting comments on our website, will be available to others. If you remove information that you have made public on the Services, copies may remain viewable in cached and archived pages of the Services, or if other users have copied or saved that information.

We may share your personally identifiable information with third party identity verification services in order to prevent fraud, to verify your bank account and confirm your bank account balance prior to approving a transaction. We may also share information we collect with third parties who need to access it to work on our behalf, such as software developers to help us make the Services available or providing analytics services for us. We work hard to ensure that these third parties only access and use your information as necessary to perform their functions.

If you use our Services to purchase or sell goods or services, we may provide the buyer or seller with your name, address and/or email to help you complete your transaction. We will create aggregations and anonymizations that contain your information in a way that does not directly identify you. We may use and/or share those aggregations and anonymizations for a variety of purposes related to the Services, or our company and its business. Non-personally identifiable information may be stored indefinitely.

Instances Where We Are Required to Share Your Information. We will disclose your information where required to do so by law, if subject to subpoena or other legal proceeding, or if we reasonably believe that such action is necessary to comply with the law and the reasonable requests of law enforcement, enforce our Terms of Use or to protect the security or integrity of the Services, to prevent behavior that is (or that we think may be) illegal or unethical, and/or to exercise or protect the rights, property, or personal safety of KuBitX, our users or others.
